Mayor Small Activates Cold Blue Alert, Urges Residents to Be Vigilant for Neighbors in Need of Shelter

ATLANTIC CITY, N.J. (November 29, 2021) – Mayor Marty Small, Sr. will activate a Code Blue Alert for the City of Atlantic City at 8 p.m. tonight, November 29.

Based on the forecast from the National Weather Service (NWS), the expected low temperature tonight will be 31 degrees. Code Blue Alerts are activated when the NWS forecast, including wind chill, is or will be 32 degrees or below.

Atlantic City remains committed to ensuring residents' access to shelter during the winter season. As such, the Atlantic City Rescue Mission will open its doors from 8pm tonight, November 29, through 9am tomorrow, November 30, to ensure there is a warm, safe place for anyone seeking shelter from the cold. Residents are encouraged to be vigilant for neighbors in need of shelter and to continue checking on youth and elderly residents during the colder months.

The Atlantic City Office of Emergency Management also encourages pet owners to bring their pets indoors during the activation of a Code Blue Alert. Exposure to cold temperatures for an extended period of time can be life-threatening.
